Mitja Učakar, member of the Supervisory Board and member of the Audit Committee

Mitja Učakar is an experienced manager with many years' experience in planning and implementing business information strategies.

He graduated from the Maribor Faculty of Economics and Business in 2001. He has worked with a large number of companies in a variety of sectors, taking leadership roles in the fields of strategic IT management, digital transformation, the optimisation of business and operating models, and the planning of business information infrastructure.

From 2009 to 2011 he was in charge of business development at GEN-I, d.o.o. He was then part of the recovery and resolution team at the Austrian bank Hypo Alpe-Adria International, before serving as departmental director and management adviser at NLB, d.d. for a number of years (focusing mainly on the challenges of digital transformation) and then as executive director for IT and treasury operations at SID Banka, d.d. Today, as a consultant who works on a freelance basis as well as with the international consultancy company Kearney, Mitja provides management consultancy services in the financial, energy and manufacturing sectors, helping managers to plan and manage their business information strategies. He is also a member of the GEN-I, d.o.o. Supervisory Board and Audit Committee.
