

GEN-I Receives Four Energy Risk Commodity Rankings 2026 Awards in Houston

Ljubljana, 15 May 2026 – At the Energy Risk Commodity Rankings 2026 awards ceremony in Houston, the GEN-I Group was once again recognized for its outstanding performance in energy trading. For the second consecutive year, the Group received awards for Best Power Trader in Central and Eastern Europe and Best Power Trader in South-Eastern Europe. In addition, GEN-I representatives were awarded second place in the categories Best Overall Energy Trader and Best Power Trader in Europe.

This latest recognition primarily reflects the confidence of the market, whose key participants regard GEN-I as a reliable, innovative, and long-term partner. The awards confirm the success of the GEN-I Group's strategy, which is built on a combination of regional leadership, continuous expansion into international markets, and highly analytical and technologically advanced trading operations.

This year's Energy Risk awards ceremony in Houston carries special significance for GEN-I, as it coincides with one of the Group's key strategic milestones—the establishment of GEN-I Trading North America LLC, which commenced active operations in Houston in January 2026. The event therefore not only celebrated the company's achievements to date but also served as an important symbolic endorsement of the GEN-I Group's continued international growth and global development ambitions.

The Energy Risk Commodity Rankings survey is one of the most comprehensive and influential international assessments within the global energy trading community. It reflects market participants' views on reliability, pricing competitiveness, service quality, and overall performance. These are the core values underpinning both the commercial strategy and day-to-day operations of the GEN-I Group.

Photo caption: Dr. Igor Koprivnikar, MBA, Member of the Management Board of GEN-I, d.o.o. (centre), together with colleagues at the Energy Risk 2026 awards ceremony in Houston.

Source: Energy Risk Commodity Rankings

Media contact:

pr@gen-i.si